

Abstract of the Disclosure

[00054] A probe module which is particularly suitable for testing an LCD panel. The probe module includes a probe base, a plurality of probe pins provided on the probe base, and a high-density circuit interconnection which includes a flexible circuit board that connects the probe pins to a testing apparatus. The tip of each probe pin may have a pointed or tapered configuration, or alternatively, a hemispherical configuration.